The Nonpariel Arranges to Make a Trip to Frisco.

NEWS ABOUT THE AUSTRALIAN TEAMS

It is always interesting to sporting people to know the inside history of things so far as sporting events or dealings are concerned Jack Dempsey, the "Nonpariel," arrived in the city yesterday, and without doubt told some of his friends a few facts that were not only interesting, but very instructive. Outside of Dempsey's gameness as a pugilist his most remarkable characteristic is his frankness. He is certainly in a position which enables him to talk truthfully about anybody or anything in his particular line of business, that is, as far as pugilism is concerned. Beside this, a man like Dempsey would not under any circumstances make public a fact or circumstance that would be injurious even to an enemy if he thought the fact could successfully be con-

Yesterday Dempsey talked frankly to a few friends about Sullivan and the late charges of drunkenness urged against that great and previous star of the fistic arena. Dempsey PACTS STATED BY DEMPSEY.

"Now, the facts of the case are these: Sullivan and his friends were arranging for a benefit in Boston. The benefit, of course, was entirely for John. The board of gentlemen who had the power to grant the license con-sisted, as far as I can understand, of 12 persons. At least Jim Wakely told me so. Well, 11 of these were disposed to favor a license for Sullivan, but Mr. Rogers, the President, objected because there had been so much trouble with Sullivan in Boston; not only with Sullivan, he said, but with other prominent boxing affairs. As a result the license was refused, so Wakely says, and Sullivan was informed of the decision. He got on his mettle, and really did consume on short notice a few bottles of wine as a result of the great disappointment in his own city, and just at a time when he was recovering from severe and costly sickness. His friends heard of his freak and got hold of him, and he was taken away to privacy and sobriety before much harm was done. Now, in this matter Sullivan only acted in a way that probable anybody of a sensitive feeling would. Bosable anybody of a sensitive feeling would. ably anybody of a sensitive feeling would. Bos-ton has no reason to ignore Sullivan. He has made thousands of dollars for that city." During further conversation it was learned that Charlie Johnson, who is putting up the money for Sullivan against Kilrain, is almost tired of John L. At least it can be now stated with a certainty that he stated to Dempsey that he won't risk Sullivan any longer.

SULLIVAN IS UNCERTAIN.

The latter is too uncertain, morally speaking, for any man to put up $5,000 or $10,000 for. Mr. Johnson made this statement in good faith, and added that Sullivan is a very great risk and added that Sullivan is a very great risk for any man to invest money on.

The facts, and they are facts, entirely bear out what has been argued in these columns from time to time. It may have grated harshly on the feelings of Sullivan's many admirers to read that he was becoming more of a wreck than ever. Of course, Sullivan's social habits is one thing, and his bugilistic abilities is another. But Sullivan's prospects in a prize ring can only be judged by the social life that he leads. A man who will lose his moral rectifude because of a social disappointment has not, as a rule, that combativeness in him that goes to make up a first-class ring fighter. If a social disappointment or a cross of expectation causes a man to lose his temper, and any intelligence that he may causes a man to lose his temper, and any intelligence that he may have, what will a terrific crack under the jaw cause him to do? This is a question for men of the Sullivan kind to consider. It is remarkable to note that every good exponent of prize ring science has been a patient man. Even the loss of teeth, or an eye has not caused game men to become hothcaded and act like fools. It is not too much to say now that Sullivan's nature in social life is a reflex of Sullivan in the ring. If he caunot have things all his own way he loses his reason so far that he becomes a toy in the hands of more reasonable and more patient people. It seems more likely than ever that Sullivan and Kilrain will not meet in battle.

WILL GO TO TRISCO.

Jack Dempsey Engaged to Go to the Far West.

It is now certain that Jack Dempsey will go to San Francisco. It was stated on good authority last evening that he had made arrangements to go to the far West with a variety show. Probably Denny Costigan will be his sparring partner.

Dempsey's trip West, however, is significant, because it means that he is sure to have a contest with somebody at San Francisco. The likelihood is that arrangements for a battle between him and McCaffrey will be consummated shortly. At any rate from now on 'Ericon will shortly. At any rate, from now on 'Frisco wil be well stocked with pugilists, real and alleged.

Grace's Great Record.

W. G. Grace, who was born July 18, 1848, near Bristol, England, is the champion batsman, and has been the wonder of the cricket world from 1864 to 1888, inclusive, and during the 25 seasons he has played in first-class matches 880 com-pleted innings, and scored 34,070 runs, averaging nearly 40 runs each inning. He has made 100 runs and upward no fewer than 139 times, being not out in 25 of these innings. His high est scores are 400, 344, 318, 268, 261, 259, 224, 221, 217, 215, 215, 210, 210, 197, 196, 192, 189, 183, 182, 181, 180, 179, 178, 177, 177, 174, 173, 172, 172, 172, 170, and 170. His 400 not out was made against 22 in the field, and included 4 sixes, 21 fours, 6 threes, 58 twos and 188 singles, the last item proving that the bowling was not so very weak. This score has only been exceeded four times, and then in minor matches with only 11 in the field. He made his 344 for the Marylebone club against Kent at Canterbury, England, in August, 1876, it being the highest individual score ever made in a first-class match. He is the only batsman of modern days who has made two separate hundreds in a first-class match, but he has performed this exceptional feat three times during his career. The first occasion was at Canterbury in 1885, when he scored for the South of the Thames against the North 180 and not out 102; the second was at Clifton in August, 1887, when, for Gloucestershire against Kent, he made 101 and not out 163, and the third was at Clifton in August, 1886, when, for Gloucestershire against Yorkshire, he scored 148 and 183. est scores are 400, 344, 318, 268, 261, 259, 224, 221,

CAPTAIN BROWN'S STABLE. Full Account of the Pittsburger's Racet

and Prospects. Menile, January 25.—The winter here has been a very open one so far; mild, with only occasional rains—a great contrast to a year since, when rain was almost a daily occurrence. As a consequence, the race horses wintering here have had hardly a day when they could not gallop on the tracks, but their trainers are wisely going slow with them, having in mind wisely going slow with them, having in mind the long racing season yet to come. At the Bascombe race course J. W. Rogers has in charge Captain Sam Brown's formidable string of 23 horses, all in robust health and seemingly good condition. They have only been in work a week, as Rogers says he is not going to fine them down too early this year, preferring to start North in April next with his horses rather on the big side. His lot comprises three 4-year-olds, 12-3-year-olds, and eight 2-year-olds, all stabled within a hundred yards of the race course. The full list of Captain Brown's horses is appended:

With Blue Wing and Troubadour hopelessly broken down and Stuyvesaut under grave suspicion—all three being at the Wildwood farm, near Louisville, Ky.—Captain Brown and Rogers will have only a small division of older horses this year. Torchlight, who has not run since 1887, looked a grand horse as I saw him taking light exercise this morning. Standing fully 16 hands high and finished in proportion. he is sound enough except for a splint which Rogers hopes to reduce. The trouble that retired him so early as a 2-year-old was a bad quarter crack, but this is now all right. Torchlight is entered in the Suburban and other great races, and with luck will be heard from.

The 3-year-olds in this stable are a good lot, as racegoers in the North will find out before the season is far under way. Reporter, who wound up last year so brilliantly at try City, is now a most racy looking fellow, and he has grown and fil

How Baseball Games Were Described on the Other Side.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.) New York, January 25.-Walter Spalding was found in his Broadway office to-day, surrounded by great piles of newspaper clippings, which he had just received from Australia. Letters were also received from A. G. Spalding, in which he said that the party would arrive in this city on or about April 10. They would be in Egypt early in February, and in Italy during the latter part of February. Walter Spalding cabled that the League championship season would begin about April 24. For this reason the trip will be hurried through. It was at first intended that the party would not get back until May, but this has been changed.

The descriptions published in the Australian

The descriptions published in the Australian papers were unique in their way. The writers in some respects copied the American style to some extent, but in the main they laid themselves out in comparing the game to cricket and football. The extracts which Mr. Spalding received were from Sydney and Melbourne papers, and in each case the reports of the games, including a picture of the ball field, were from one to seven columns. The description of how baseball was played was plane enough, but the games were somewhat mixed. Still, the reporters out there did well.

The way in which the men caught and hit the ball surprised the people out there. One paper gives a column description of how to hit a ball with a round bat without cutting the ball to one's feet or popping it in the lair.

FOUGHT TO A FINISH.

McCarthy Wins the Bantam Championship in Just 18 Minutes.

NEW YORK, January 25.—The great battle between Harry Walton, of Philadelphia, and Cal McCarthy, of Jersey City, to decide the American championship in the bantam weight class, took place at Gloucester, N. J., to-night. Seventy-five of the best known sports from the ring side, which was pitched in the attic of a vacant mansion on the outskirts of the city of Gloucester. The conditions of the contest called for a fight to a finish according to Mar-quis of Queensberry rules, for the bantam weight championship of America and a purse weight championship of America and a purse of $750.

Tickets sold for $10 each and every man pressent had one. McCarthy fought a clever battle, and knocked Walton out in the fifth round. The knock out was one of the strangest ever witnessed. Walton came forward, and at once received a heavy blow on the left eye. He staggered and atter receiving several more stinging punches on the head he became very weak. McCarthy went at him with both hands and caught him on the jaw. Walton made a dive and rolled on the floor for two minutes. McCarthy was declared the winner. Time, 18 minutes.

Sam Bryant's Stable.

The Courier-Journal reports that Sam Bryant will have a strong stable for the coming season; that the racers are stabled immediately behind his residence near Louisville and are as follows: Proctor Knott, ch. g., 3, by Luke Blackburn, Bonnie Scotland.

The stable arrangements are very good, with Proctor Knott occupying the box of honor at the extreme end of the stable. The box is divided by a partition rail, which keeps the winner of the Junior Champion and Futurity on a thick bed of clean sweet straw, the other compartment being required to give Bryant and his assistants easy access to the crack. Since autumn Proctor Knott has taken on considerable flesh and has filled out wonderfully. His muscles are as firm as they ever were, and it will require but little preparation to fit him for racing.

Garrison Signs.

NEW YORK, January 25 .- Edward H. Garrison, or "Snapper" Garrison, the jockey, yester-day signed with Mr. August Belmont, and will ride for the latter in the coming racing season. It has been reported very frequently of late It has been reported very frequently of late that Garrison would not again enter into an agreement with a particular stable to ride for it exclusively, as he felt that more money might be made by taking the mounts offered him on the tracks he visited. If such was his determination at any time he has reconsidered it, which seems to be good judgment, as his salary with Mr. Belmont will be $12,000 for the year.

The "Snapper's" good luck is proverbial. He can ride, and that well, and it was in part due to his skill that the stable of Mr. J. B. Haggin last year heads the winning list, there being to its credit the princely sum of $135,009, of which Firenzi won nearly $35,000, Garrison being her pilot in all her 22 races. Garrison received $10,000 from Mr. Haggin last season,

A Royal Welcome. New York, January 25 .- A grand reception will be tendered the Chicago and All American teams in this city when they return from their teams in this city when they return from their trip around the world. Manager Mutrie has the matter in hand, and he intends to hire a steamer that will accommodate about 500 guests. It will be decorated with bunting and flags and the two championship flags—that of the National League and the world's champion-ship series—will float from the steamer's flag-staffs.

The party will sail down the bay and meet the steamer they come on at Sandy Hook. If the weather should be propitious an exhibition game will be played at the Polo Ground. At all events a banquet will be tendered the teams by the New York club at Delmonico's.

BALTIMORE, January 25.-The Baltimore Baseball Club has been asked to make an offer for Louisville's battery-Hecker and Cook or else waive claim to them. Manager Davidson suggests that he would trade them for first baseman Tucker and a cash bonus, but the Baltimore management would not listen to any proposition involving Tucker's transfer, and having no use for Hecker and Cook will probably relinquish all claim on them.

Sporting Notes. THE directors of the Newark Baseball Club have decided to run it another year. DEMPSEY'S story about Sullivan seems to be the most truthful yet given to the public. R. W. THOMAS, trainer of Lucky Baldwin's race horses last year, will have John Carter's string this season.

It is stated that Peter Jackson will act as boxing instructor for the California Athletic boxing instructor for the Call Club for the next six months. CAL MCCARTHY is hard at work training for his fight with Harry Walton, of Philadelphia, which takes place within 48 hours.

FOLLOWERS of the trotting circuit years ago will be interested to learn that ungainly Moose, record 2:19% has been sold to a Memphis horseman for $200. OFFICIAL figures show that the National Trotting Association was highly successful last year financially. The receipts were $16,-861 64, and the disbursements $13,341 77; balance in the treasury, $14,266 45.

THE matter of arranging a series of games between the New York and Brooklyn teams has been placed in the hands of Manager Mutrie, and it is likely that an understanding will be reached within a few days.

THE arrangements for the glove fight between Jack Fallon, the Brooklyn strong boy, and Dom McCaffrey have been completed. The men will box ten rounds at Cronheim's Theater, Hoboken, February 8. The winner will receive 75 per cent of the receipts. Al Smith will be referee. LAST season Buck Ewing had a pair of catcher's gloves made especially to order. They were made according to Buck's own ideas, and were so easy and serviceable that he used them throughout the season. Keefe has taken Ewing's idea and is on the market with a glove which he calls "The Ewing." which he calls "The Ewing."

A LETTER from Beloit, Wis., where Jack Mc-Auliffe is training for his fight with Myer, which is to come off in three weeks from now, says McAuliffe is training down nicely, having got rid of 12 pounds last week. The letter was written by Billy Madden, who says McAuliffe is ready to fight now. There is no betting on the result, though it is the general opinion McAuliffe is the better man.

SUIT has been commenced in the Supreme Court by Simon Dinkelspiel against his former friend, Edward H. ("Snapper") Garrison, the jockey, to recover the sum of $500, which the plaintiff claims to have been placed in bets at the Jerome Park races in 1887. He alleges that he placed this money with the bookmakers on several horses by Garrison's orders and lost. The jockey repudiates the claim entirely, and will contest the suit.

BANQUET BY THE WAVERLY CLUB.

Another Nice Celebration by the Caledonians Over in Allegheny.

BOTH QUAINT AND ORIGINAL SAYINGS

It was for the Land of the Thistle to produce one of the few great poets that have ever trod this "vale of tears;" and even now wherever the English language is spoken and wherever a human heart beats, praises will be sung of Bobbie Burns, the Bard of bonnie Scotland. A poet of the people, loving them, and in turn adored by his countrymen; he had his weaknesses, it is true, but, "A man's a man for a' that." The one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of the birth of Scotland's favorite poet

ner. The Waverly Association was in charge of the celebration. Over 500 guests were present and took part in the evening's entertainment. a few wore the native dress of the Scots and a Highland piper, Mr. James Johnston, played selections on his instrument previous to the banquet. He was attired in the full costume of a piper and made a brave appearance.

was celebrated last evening at the Seventh

Avenue Hotel in a highly successful man-

At the signal for the commencement of the festivities, the piper headed the procession as it marched through the large banquet hall. Mr. Alexander Leggate, President of the association, took his seat at the head of the first table. The Vice Presidents, Mr. John T. Wilson, Mr. John D. Glover, Mr. John Young and Mr. John S. McKean occupied prominent positions.

AROUND THE TABLES. Three long tables had been placed in the spacious dining room of the hotel. At one end Gernert and Guenther's orchestra played Scottish selections, while the guests enjoyed the elaborate menu which had been prepared for them. The dinner passed off without interruption. It was an American banquet, although in honor of a Scotchman, and the only dish in the bill of fare which called to mind the land of the kilt and bag-called to mind the land of the kilt and bag-pipe was "Haggis, a la Robert Burns." the dish was brought into the banquet hall with the greatest ceremony. Mr. Ar-thur Kirk, who made an address to the Haggis, entered the room, followed by a Highland piper. The great Haggis was carried by a colored servant who bore it aloft as he marched about the room. Mr. Kirk then made his address, and the haggis was served to the expectant guests. It is a was served to the expectant guests. It is a mysterious dish, and tasted as one would imagine oatmeal boiled in oil would taste.

At the conclusion of the supper the entertainment for the evening commenced. The programme was a long one, but it was at-tractive enough to keep the listeners until after midnight. Mr. Alexander Leggate, President of the

The Burns Society of Allegheny also celebrated the one hundred and thirtieth anniversary of that poet's birth last evening by an entertainment, supper and ball at the Manchester Turner Hall. A well-selected programme of a musical and literary nature was rendered to an audience of about 500. The ushers were Harry Anderson, William Hamilton, James Black and H. Thompson and the supper, consisting of three tables, was served by Hay.

The Henderson Band furnished the music for the dancing. Among the renditions worthy of note were "Pibroch Solos," by James Urquhart; "Anniversary song," by Mrs. Henderson, accompanied by W. James Urquhart; "Anniversary song," by Mrs. Henderson, accompanied by W. Steiner; "Tam O' Shanter," by J. Ogilvie; "The Murmur of a Shell," by Miss T. Mackintosh; several duets by the McNaughton brothers; recitations by Miss Sheeran and song by Mr. M. McAvoy.

The entire affair was thoroughly Scotch in its character, and is the third which has been given by the society. Financially, it was quite successful, as the proceeds will probably amount to sev-eral hundred dollars. Altogether it does credit to the society which certainly deserves its success, as it has worked hard.

RIDDLED WITH BULLETS.

A Colored Man Shot Six Times and Dies Instantly. PRECIAL TRLEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1

STEUBENVILLE, O., January 25 .- This forenoon, at 10 o'clock, a colored man named Archie Twiggs, better known as Archie Mack, of Richmond, Va., got ipto an altercation with James Ritson, white, who shot him six times with a 32-caliber revolver, two of the shots being fatal. The first shot took effect just below the left eye, passing through the cheek bone, entering the head, and another entered at the inside corner of the left eye. The other four shots were in his legs and arms.

The shooting occurred in a saloon and boarding house, run by William Walker, colored, located on North Third street. The men had been drinking in Joseph Brink-man's place, on Market street, during the man's place, on Market street, during the night, and left the place for Walker's, where Ritson missed $50, which he claimed Twiggs had taken, and the lie was exchanged. Different stories are told in regard to it, Ritson claiming that Twiggs pulled his revolver first and he wrenched it from his hand, while others state that Twiggs went upstairs and got the revolver and handed it to Ritson. However, Ritson emptied both revolvers of their contents.

ALL end and dress lengths will be close out during the mornings at about half origi-HUGUS & HACKE.
